

Two St. Edmund's Academy teams competed on Saturday, February 21, 2009 in the Robotics INDEE 500 Car Race at the Carnegie Science Center. One team, Wolf!, won Most Creative Car and 4th place for speed (out of 9 teams). They were awarded a small cash prize and a trophy for most creative car. Our other team, Hunters, came in 9th place. The other teams were comprised of 8th graders from various schools.

Overall, it was a very good experience for the students. Students had a great time using the Lego sets to create, program, and display their cars.
