

Class of 1992 – Tom Reynolds’ responses

What have you been up to?

1. You were a part of the last all male graduating class. What did it mean to you at the time and how is it still significant to you?

It was pretty cool at the time. I remember it being a relatively big deal. We had a great class and there were a number of still old-school faculty there at the time that were there to see us off.

As for now, I think the fact that I got to go to an all-boys school for 9 years was important for me. I learned a lot there and it was a great experience for me growing up with those guys.

2. Where did your journey take you after leaving St. Edmund’s Academy and how are you still connected?

I went to boarding school in Massachusetts and then on to Colby College in Waterville, ME. I basically stayed in New England ever since, working for a while and then going to medical school and residency in pediatrics there. I actually just moved back to Pittsburgh this past month as I will now be starting a fellowship in pediatric neurology at UPMC.

3. This class established this scholarship in memory of Alexander McAllister Feely and Bradley Laufman Henninger, two classmates from the Class of 1992. Tell us about their personalities and what this scholarship means to you.

Alex was an interesting character. He and his family played a big role in my early adolescence and when I think about what it was like growing up and becoming a teenager, its tough for me not to think about my friendship with Alex.

Brad was a great guy. His family was outstanding and were so kind to us over the years. I remember countless trips to Idlewild and Conneaut Lake with them. They were so generous to all of us in the class of '92 and I can't thank them enough for their role in my upbringing.

4. What are your favorite memories of St. Edmund’s Academy?

5. We understand that you still keep in touch as a class. We’ve noticed that each class has their own unique personality. Describe the Class of 1992’s personality.

I think its actually a pretty varied class – a lot of different folks who are up to different things in their lives.

6. What advice would you like to give to the Class of 2008?

Remember your time at St. Edmunds as you transition to high school. The high school years can be a tough time as you make your way towards adulthood and if you remember the life lessons that the folks at St. Edmund's taught you, you'll be just fine.
